

The Director's Chair: April 2019— TMI Welcomes Scott Taylor

As of this writing, it has been almost five weeks since I took my place in the "Director's Chair" here at TM ... My plan is to take these first hundred days to observe, to listen—intently—to absorb, before taking substantive action. I want to hear from our staff, trainers, our board members, volunteers, participants, and stakeholders of all flavors. Read More

Robert A. Monroe: The Vision Continues

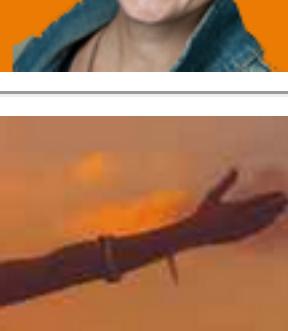

by Leslie France, Projects Manager, The Monroe Institute

It is an opportunity to look with fresh appreciation at the monumental contributions Bob made in the lives of millions. Bob's legacy as a world changer continues to ripple throughout the multiverse. In the wake of his physical death ... Now, almost a quarter of a century later, his vision has played out in ways he may not have predicted. Read More.

Heartline—Journey Inward to the Heart

by Susan Smiley, TMI Volunteer Professional Division Coordinator

On Sunday ... I suddenly felt a presence that filled my body, but which was centered in my heart. ... And I found myself with a new perspective, one that didn't need to look to the future with angst or ennui, but rather one that in the present moment can love who I am and where I find myself Read More.
